

BY MRS. GILDERSLEEVE LONGSTREET.

"Oh, I am not hungry any more, I would rather go home and tell mother that I am not coming to school today. I'll be back in the morning. I don't want to go to school today," said the boy. Good night. I am so glad! So glad! and with one hand grasping the girl's arm, he ran to the edge of the fields toward the poor little hovel where his father had died in, and where he had been buried. He was not much older than the boy, but all younger than herself, were made aware of their orphanage.

They lay down on the nearly bare ground, with a brook running through the center, and on a dyke, which was bordered by beautiful maple and elder trees, drowsed and fluttered their shadows in the water. There was no other place in which frogs and toads could have such a variety of their kind. The boy and girl were not much older than a great, fashionable creature of the year, in this year, in this country. The boy was a great, fashionable creature of the year, in this year, in this country. The boy was a great, fashionable creature of the year, in this year, in this country.

[illegible][illegible]

where they take the lead in selling goods cheap.

—

M. F. DOOLITTLE,
Licensed Auctioneer for Lake country.

If you wish, to buy or sell any kind of property, consult us by fore making other arrangements.

Regular sales at AUCTION EVERY SATURDAY AT 10 O'CLOCK MORNING AND EVENING.

166 N. 4TH STREET, Sign of the Red Flag.

Say, don't be proving round 'o' night;
"Somebody will shoot." Another lot of South & Wesson's Revolvers, Marston's Re-peaters, Pistols, Cartridges, Gun Wads, Shot, Powder, &c., &c.

— 0 —

McBride & Co.

Are for business, and rely for success in hardng and selling at cheap prices, and instaurable dealing with every one.
Painesville, July 15, 1871.

PAINESVILLE, OHIO.

F A Z E

...ally invites all who wish to see the best-known Dutch Yankee Artist in existence, to prepare a call, at the office.

CLAPSADD ROOMS.

Over Lee's Drug Store.

July 8, 1871.

[illegible][illegible]

RECEIPTS,

BILL-HEADS,

SHIPPING RECEIPTS,

Books or Blanks required by Merchants,
Wholesale and Retail, and County Officers, or to the public printer, all at the lowest prices.